WOMEN OF JERSEY NOT BOUND BY TIES OF EITHER PARTY

Feel That Democrats and Republicans Withheld Their Vote Long as Possible.

WANT TO AVOID WAR.

Will Make Careful Study of Platforms and Candidates Before Casting Ballot.

This is the first article of a series dealing with the political reactions of the passage of the Suffrage Amendment in New Jersey, Connecticut and Delaware. New Jersey is the field of the first investigation, and will be dealt with in three articles.

Marguerite Mooers Marshall.
What are women who thought themselves disfranchised—until Tennessee became the "perfect thirty-six"—going to do with the vote, now that they have it?

What, for example, will be the political reactions of New Jersey, Connecticut and Delaware women in the Presidential campaign of 1920, into which they have been injected, as it were, overnight?

After interviewing the New Jersey "woman in the street," or rather in the home, the business office, the shop and wherever else she plays her busy, self-respecting, womanly part in the community life, I may summarize conclusions as follows:

The New Jersey woman is going to use her vote, now that she has it—even if she never particularly wanted it before.

She is going to vote to the best of her knowledge and intelligence after making a careful study of candidates and platforms, instead of merely accepting the political label of her nearest male relatives. She does not feel bound by ties of gratitude to either political party, since she feels that both parties put off votes for women as long as possible and then, when women's work had made the issue a foregone conclusion, tumbled over themselves to claim the major share of the credit.

The great issue of the immediate future in our politics, so far as women

Mrs. Curry Includes $500 Bond for Stowaway's Release in Her Possession.

A voluntary petition in bankruptcy, filed today in the Federal District Court by Mrs. Marion G. Curry, who was much in the public eye a short time ago when she adopted Mike Gilhooley, the French boy who was the world's most famed and persistent stowaway, stated that her liabilities were $111,310.92 and her assets $700, consisting of $200 worth of wearing apparel and a $500 Liberty Bond filed with the Ellis Island authorities for the release of Mike Gilhooley.

Mrs. Curry, who gave her present address as No. 142 West 57th Street and her occupation as that of a writer, was living at the Vanderbilt Hotel when she adopted the little French stowaway who declared his intention of getting into the United States despite the efforts of immigration authorities to keep him out and regardless of how many times he was deported. She said that her interest in Mike was aroused by reason of the fact that her middle name was Gilhooley.

A recent suit against Mrs. Curry elicited a statement from her that she had made investments in stocks from which large returns were expected that would enable her to liquidate all her debts.

Creditors of Mrs. Curry include persons who advanced money on notes, hotels, physicians and dealers in merchandise. Several British creditors were named: Eather, Ltd., London, $140, merchandise; Atkinson, Hanover Square, London, $95, merchandise; and Dischene Nursing Home, London, $480, services.

Others named among the sixty-five creditors are: Mrs. P. H. Gilhooley of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., $48,750, loans; Pauline Chase, English actress, $250, loans; Vanderbilt Hotel, $1,104; Shoreham Hotel, Washington, $350; Dr. W. Van Winkle, No. 140 West 58th Street, $1,500, dental services; Coleman du Pont, No. 120 Broadway, cash advanced for business purposes, $2,300; Clark, Dodge & Co., No. 51 Wall Street, $2,300, note; E. R. Graham, Chicago, $21,067, note; Baron De Mayer, No. 50 East 53d Street, $420, merchandise; Kirkpatrick, 5th Avenue, $1,053.75, merchandise; Dr. H. Vaughan, No. 471 Park Avenue, $200, services; R. P. Jennings, Mexico City, $2,500, note; E. C. Derr, No. 142 West 57th Street, $1,434, rent and supplies.

An item among the listed liabilities was a charge of $25 for photographs of Mike Gilhooley.

POLES BOTTLE UP FOUR BIG SOVIET ARMIES; PRISONERS TOO NUMEROUS TO COUNT

Paris Hears 75,000 Had Been Taken Yesterday; One Division Captured 5,000.

WEYGAND IN COMMAND

Nearly 1,000 French Officers Aiding—Red Army in South in Retreat.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—Poland has been cautioned by the American Government not to permit her armies in their present counter-offensive against the Russian Bolsheviks to advance beyond the ethnographic boundaries of Poland.

Great Britain has joined the United States in the endeavor to prevent a second violation by Poland of Russian territory, officials said. Unofficial advice already received contain assurances of the intention of the Polish Government to heed the advice.

WARSAW, Aug. 23 (Associated Press).—The process of bottling up the Russian Soviet forces on the northern front between Prussia and the Vistula River has been completed, according to an official statement issued just before last midnight.

The Poles have closed the gateway of escape, taking prisoners and materials in such quantities that it is impossible to count them. One Polish infantry division alone took 5,000 prisoners and sixteen guns. Four Russian armies are involved.

The Soviet forces which have been menacing Lemberg from the East and South have commenced to retreat under pressure due, the statement says, to the continued Polish advance along the entire central and northern fronts. At one time Gen. Budenny, the Soviet cavalry leader, was within nine miles of Lemberg, but has been thrown back in a southwesterly direction. All the Russians in this region are in full retreat.

Twenty-two cannon were taken during the advance on the central front under the personal command of President Pilsudski, the Poles occupying Zambrow and Mazowieck, southeast of Lomza, and crossing the line of the Narwa south of Bialystok, 120 miles northeast of Warsaw. The Russian retreat continues in the general direction of Grodno and eastward.

The Polish forces have been regrouped into two armies for pursuit of the Russians, the northern army under Gen. Haller and the central army under President Pilsudski. The latter's turning movement continues under the best conditions. The Poles have counted more than 55,000 prisoners and 200 cannon.

Gen. Haller's forces have reached

OLYMPIC STADIUM, ANTWERP, Aug. 23 (Associated Press).—The Olympic athletic events in the stadium closed this afternoon with the American athletes so far in the lead in the point scoring that they were the winners by a large margin.

The closing contests were held in the rain with only a handful of spectators present.

Following are the final unofficial scores of the stadium athletics, the field and track events: America, 210 points; Finland, 165; Sweden, 95; England, 92; France, 85; Italy, 28; South Africa, 24; Canada, 10; Norway, 10; Denmark, 9; Estonia, 8; New Zealand, 5; Belgium, 5; Australia, 5; Czechoslovakia, 2; Holland, 2; Luxembourg, 1.

The 1,600-metre race, next to the last stadium event, was won by England, with South Africa second, France third, America fourth and Sweden fifth. Sweden protested the race, claiming it was started from a wrong point of the track. The Olympic Committee is considering the protest.

The American team consisted of George R. Schuller, Los Angeles A. C.; J. E. Meredith, New York A. C.; George S. Brettall, Cornell College, Iowa; and Frank J. Shea, United States Navy. The time of the winning team was 2 minutes, 21.5 seconds.

SEARCH COFFINS FOR LIQUOR NOW

Shelvin's Men in Westchester County on Alert for New Way of Transporting Hootch.

A report received today by James Shelvin, Supervising Prohibition Enforcement Agent, that illegal transportation of liquor in Westchester County is being carried on by using hearse, the coffins in which contain liquor instead of a corpse, has placed him in a difficult position. Shelvin doesn't wish to have anything "put over" on him and he has instructed his men to take a peep at the inside of caskets where their suspicions are aroused, but at the same time he recognizes the impracticability of holding up all funeral processions to search for liquor.

WOMAN PICKED UP IN BAY MAY HAVE BEEN MURDERED

Wound Over Right Eye Believed to Have Been Inflicted Before Her Death.

WAS RICHLY GOWNED.

Body Found by Boatman Among Rocks—Shoes Only Clue to Identity.

The mystery of the expensively dressed woman whose body was found among the rocks on the south side of the Fort Wadsworth Reservation, Staten Island, was deepened today when Dr. George P. Mord, Deputy Medical Examiner of Richmond County, discovered a wound over her right eye which, he said, was inflicted before her death. Whether this wound was sufficient to have killed her was problematical.

There was one thing which lent color to a theory that she had been killed and then placed on the shore. This was that her clothing was found not to have been completely wet. This did much to dispose of the belief that she might have fallen or been thrown from a passing vessel.

The body is that of a woman of about forty years, five feet five inches tall, with blue eyes and abundant black hair. Her features were regular and clean-cut, and her well-manicured hands indicated that she was not a working woman. She wore a black silk skirt and a white silk waist of obvious quality. There was no jewelry on the body nor anything that would aid in identifying her save the marking in the slippers she wore. These had been made by Alfred A. Klein, No. 303 Fifth Avenue, Manhattan. The marks were the figures 46.71 over 150.

William Conklin discovered the body yesterday morning while he was on his way to St. George in a motor boat. He towed it to Stapleton, where it is now in the New Springville morgue.

"BURGLARS" PHONES WOMAN, BUT IT WAS ONLY PLUMBERS

Police Surround 5th Avenue Home on Alarm From Hamilton Fish Housekeeper.

"BURGLARS" telephoned in a woman's alarmed voice, sent three detectives and three uniformed policemen hurrying to the scene last night. Hamilton Fish's housekeeper, Miss Anderson, peering out of the Fish home, No. 810 Fifth Avenue, explained breathlessly that when she started out for a walk she noticed the upper windows of No. 808 pulled down when she knew she had left them up early in the day. She is looking after the place while it is unoccupied and told the police she had the only key.

Policemen surrounded and entered the house. From the bathroom came sounds of hammering and loud talk. The detectives sprang in and surprised three plumbers. Surprise was complete and mutual.

The trio were sent by contractors renovating the building who had a key. No arrests.

ECKERT KILLED TO SHIELD "WHISKEY RING," POLICE SAY; FIND NEW CLUE TO SLAYER

Two Men Seen Leaving Auto by Watchman Who Found Bootlegger's Body—Had Threatened to Expose Liquor Traffic.

One more witness material to the murder of Frederick P. Eckert, whose body was found in an automobile in Grasmere, Staten Island, at dawn Saturday, was brought before District Attorney J. F. Malloy of Richmond County today in the person of Harry Solomon, a driver of motor trucks. The District Attorney has been informed that Solomon was with Eckert and William Maloney, a hotel proprietor, at 42d Street and Broadway, New York, last Friday night in the car in which he was found dead the next morning.

NEW YORK GREET PRINCE WHO RISKED THRONE FOR LOVE

Carol of Roumania Met by Big Delegation on Arrival at Grand Central.

Crown Prince Carol of Roumania, widely known as the "Prince of Romance" because he risked forfeiture of his succession to the throne by following the urge of true love to take as his bride a girl not of royal blood, arrived at the Grand Central Terminal at 9 o'clock this morning for a six-days' visit. The visit is unofficial, as he is travelling incognito, and the city which welcomes him can do so only unofficially.

Prince Carol, whose marriage a year ago to Mile. Zizi Lambrino, daughter of a Roumanian army officer caused him to be hailed as a "regular feller" by the citizenry of the republics of the world, had very little of the appearance of royalty as he stepped from the train from Chicago, which was an hour late in arriving.

He wore a gray suit covered by a belted tan raincoat, while a tweed raincoat had completed his likeness to the average travelling European. His appearance was not at all distinguished, but it seemed to please more than 200 Roumanians assembled at the station to see him—even if the United States Secret Service men would not permit them to greet him at close quarters.

The Secret Service men who were in charge of William Nye, despite the fact that he has retired from the service, guarded the royal visitor so closely that few were permitted to get within speaking distance of him.

Solomon was questioned with the object of learning what he knew about the persons last seen with the murdered man.

Malloy believes that the evidence in the murder of Eckert—who had been arrested repeatedly in the last two months for possessing liquor illegally, stealing liquor and trading in stolen automobiles—will show to what extent there is truth in the boasts of bootleggers that they were in partnership with subordinate officials of the Prohibition Enforcement Bureau.

When Eckert's body was found Saturday morning cred to the discovery was given by the police to Policeman Wilbur. It became known today that William Mitchell, watchman at the Perry & Austin paint factory at Grasmere, and his mongrel dog Nellie had first found the body, after Nellie had gone to her master and whined complaints that something was wrong in the bushes opposite the plant. He then called Wilbur.

With this discovery came the added information from Mitchell that Nellie and the watchman had heard a noise on the property at 4 o'clock that morning and the watchman had held up two young men emerging from the thicket in which the car was concealed toward Parkerson Avenue. Mitchell interceded and questioned them.

They said their automobile was "stalled over there," pointing toward the bushes, and they were going to South Beach "to hire a tow." Mitchell had a good look at them and is sure he would recognize either. He describes them as men of medium height, short and well built. One spoke excellent English, but the other spoke as though uncertain of his words, he said.

Eckert was known to have been in controversy with men who were reputed to have been associated with him in ventures which had caused his arrest three times recently. He is believed to have sent word to them from the Tomb where he was locked up Aug. 12: "Either you get me out of jail and keep me out or I will get you in and keep in. Take your choice."

The persons to whom this word was sent made it possible for Eckert's wife to get bail furnished through a saloon keeper. They got Eckert out and within forty-eight hours his death made it certain that he would not bring the whole syndicate into the grip of the law by an exposure. When Mrs. Florence Hayes Eckert was called to Staten Island and told her husband had been murdered she screamed a series of
